A scientific calculator that allows you to use any units you want. Description Steffen's Calculator is a powerful scientific calculator with a nice display. In the constants dialog box you have access to any physical constant and you can convert any units To use Steffen's Calculator, you can click on the buttons or use the keyboard to enter numbers and operators. You can also use the Tab key to move between buttons and press the Space Bar when you reach the button that you want. Any completed operation will be registered on "Tape". The "Tape" reflects everything that you did since you started Steffen's Calculator or since you last cleared the "Tape". The "Tape" has many useful functions. You can print the "Tape", you can send the contents of the "Tape" to the Clipboard or you can just browse the "Tape" to review your calculations. Steffen's Calculator supports integrals, derivatives, definite and indefinite integrals, roots, logarithms and exponential functions. Steffen's Calculator allows you to choose between scientific notation, fixed precision and floating point for calculations. If you are using fixed precision the maximum number of significant digits is only limited by the available memory. Steffen's Calculator is the most complete calculator for mathematicians and scientists and all of the operators that you might ever need. Steffen's Calculator has a nice display with many different themes and you can easily read the display. Steffen's Calculator is easy to use and provides many useful functions that will allow you to do anything you need with a calculator. You will quickly find Steffen's Calculator is not only the most powerful calculator for scientists and mathematicians, it is also the most fun. What's new Steffen's Calculator 4.13 Version 4.13 fixed a problem where under specific circumstances, the display would get blanked. Steffen's Calculator now informs you of this problem. Additionally it is now possible to change the display from "Tape" to "Tape-2" or "Tape-3". The welcome screen will now display the following message: "Steffen's Calculator will now run with your favourite search engine". Steffen's Calculator will now save if the program terminates due to an error. This is the Version 4.12 of Steffen's Calculator. Steffen's Calculator v4.12 Steffen's Calculator 4.12 - Fixed a problem where the "Tape" would not be displayed if you moved the mouse cursor over it.
