We love Clam Blitz! And we think you might too. We took the classic "Clam Clam Clam" game we all played as kids, and made it a little more fast-paced, with a little less pointy-ness, making it perfect for the smartphone generation. Plus, it's a great way to learn each other's names. The Crab Game is a fun and simple little game. You wake up in the morning and your morning newspaper is waiting for you. Take out your magnifying glass and start reading your morning paper. But before you start reading the paper, you just wanna know who's playing before you wake up. And the answer is right there on the first page. SMILE. The funniest thing is that you can go on until you find all the "Me's" but once you find a "YOUR NAME" you have to ask that person for their money. Sounds easy but that's just the way it is. While you're waiting for the answer, you are just in time to play one of the 28 maps onscreen. You can get different rewards for winning the matches. Every time you play you can collect back to back wins and you can collect up to 4 credits. If you'd like you can add on a Multiplayer battle. (see above link for more info) Your opponents will all be in the same exact position and you will fight them all together in a single game for the ultimate cash price. What an awesome way to learn how the other half lives! There is a server list on the website for you to see how close you are from winning the cash price. Be sure to download the application here! *PLEASE NOTE - Apple does not allow "DRM" type games so we are unable to work on any jailbroken devices. The loads of whitespace above the LI elements have to go because that's the inline version of that font. If you link in a version that uses the normal font then your whitespace problem goes away. It's pretty transparent to someone. Your top header contains i words "info", "information" and "peterjackson". If you tell the users please, they can find some of that info on your website. Unless you don't have a site... Q: Android, executing JNI code on emulator This is a bit of a jumbled question, I apologize for that. What I have done so far: Created my own executable and compiled to.so file to be able to use in my app registered this.so in /system/lib/bc304316 Copied the necessary data for the native code from my native debugger via USB to the runAndroid APP_EMULATOR folder Ran my debugger on the simulator (0.4.3 API level 10) and I see that app_emulator/runAndroid/libnative/bc304316.so called the native code perfectly and displayed a splash screen (10 loops at for pid = 0) On my real phone I can link the.so file in runAndroid using the run.baks, however I'm getting linker errors. Linker: libbc304316.so DalvikVM aborting due to non-fatal linked instruction stream error Which leads to Fatal signal 6 (SIGABRT) at 0x00000000 (code=-6), thread 1290966082 (Finder) Seems to be a Java linker issue and I would assume that is to do with either the way I'm referencing the code in my Android manifest (EXECUTABLES refer to the.so file, even though its configured as a

No Such Thing As Evil: NSTACE is a fictional film made in the 1950's, based on the true events of The Frankfurt Motor Show. When the film begins, we see a man - Mr. Werther - at a puppet show, watching three puppets stand up and speak in perfect unison. A female puppeteer makes a slight gesture and the puppets all leap to their feet, walking off in a line. Suddenly, they begin to twitch, and a man suddenly leaps out, grabbing Mr. Werther and running across the stage. Soon, the stage is filled with people, fleeing a man chasing a woman across the stage. Running into the wings, the man shouts: "Quick! You haven't seen my wife!" Suddenly, a car crashes through the scene and sits upended on the ground, a woman screaming coming out, running across the stage, falling into the car, and leaping out again. The vehicle careens off to the left, and this time the audience is able to see clearly who it is - the couple we saw in the beginning, standing in terror in the background of the room. Turning to the audience, the man shouts: "You have probably all seen this film before, but I assure you it was made during the 1950's. And the reason it was made was because I was researching a film about a certain type of patient that was taking the lives of young girls at that time. These girls were all in perfect mental health, and then suddenly, they began to act strangely. They would go out for simple excursions, and then they would never be seen again. It wasn't long before people began to notice something was wrong - but by the time they discovered what was happening, it was too late for most of the girls." Of all the games I have played this year, the one that has been the most fun, and one of the most difficult is Mani 2. The theme and story of this game is absolutely amazing. Players have to take control of mani in order to save the game of the people. Gamers will have to think for themselves and solve puzzles. This game is all about survival and the one that will last is the gamer who learns the best solution. Read full reviewCarmel Games If you want a good puzzle/platform game that will have you thinking all the way through, with spectacular visuals, then Mani 2 should be on your to-buy list.80/100 BitLoadersPleuritis due to the herb garden sorrel. A 46-year-old man was admitted to our hospital for a right pleural effusion, and at that time the herb garden sorrel had begun to be used at home. Based on a strong clinical suspicion of an empyema, a thoracic drainage catheter was inserted, and, after that, the pleural fluid became transudative with a dramatic decrease in its amount. Furthermore, a pleural biopsy was performed, and histologic findings revealed that the inflammation was caused by a granulomatous reaction. Since the patient took a lower dose of the herb garden sorrel, we considered that it had had an unexpected inflammatory reaction.Challenges and knowledge gaps to water quality sampling in the Pacific coast of Colombia. The Colombia-Ecuador-Peru (CEP) tri-border is formed by two international rivers, the Atrato and Guajira, and seven shared coastal basins. Water quality in these coastal basins is monitored by water sampling at river outlets, or by sampling in relatively isolated coastal streams. In Colombia, water quality sampling is a long-established practice in which different types of water are collected from the sources and from the margins of the different basins, but sampling practices are heterogeneous and sometimes poorly documented. There are two major regions in Colombia where most sampling practices take place, the Pacific and Orinoco river basins. In the Pacific region, the sampling of the Andean River System, namely the Atrato, Guajira, Pasca and Meta rivers, is one of the most comprehensive. In the Orinoco basin, sampling is heterogeneous and mainly takes place in the coastal areas. In this paper, we focus on the issues and knowledge gaps in water quality monitoring
